How to Plan Your Ceremony Music

The wedding ceremony music tends to be softer, usually classical wedding music or ballads. There should be about five songs played as a prelude when the guests are seated, then a special song when the mothers of the bride and groom are seated.

There are two songs during the processional, one when the bridesmaids enter, and the most dramatic as the bride walks up the aisle. The most joyous music is played in the recessional, when the bride and groom leave together.

There can be special songs at different points in the ceremony, such as after exchanging the rings and vows, lighting the unity candle, or taking communion.

Some churches have rules about wedding songs used during your ceremony so be sure to ask your clergy person or officiant.

Prelude music: Played prior to the ceremony, while guests are arriving.

- Moonlight Sonata (Beethoven)
- Isn't It Romantic (Glenn Miller)
- Water Music (Handel)

- Trumpet Voluntary in D (The Prince of Denmark's March) (Clarke or Purcell)
- Canon in D (Pachelbel)
- The Four Seasons (Handel)
- Water Music (Handel)

- I Can't Help Falling In Love (Elvis Presley)

Wedding Songs: 30 Perfect Wedding Songs for Parent

Dances

They're touching reception events: The bride waltzing with her dad, the groom tangoing with his mom. Here're some of our favorite tunes to use.

Trying to come up with the perfect wedding song to dance to with Dad or Mom? Start by deciding if you want a beautiful slow ballad or also want a song with meaningful lyrics. (Warning: If you choose a tear-jerker, plan the dance for later on in the reception, when the party is beginning to wind down and most of the pictures have already been taken!)

Below is a list of popular wedding songs for parent dances. We recommend reading through the whole list for ideas -- some songs work for a father-daughter or mother-son dance. Or, you may want to choose one song and have both dances at the same time.

- "Can I Have This Dance" (Anne Murray)
- "Close to You" (The Carpenters)
